

WHY BRAD'S FALLING APART!

WEEKLY

INTOUCH

WIN
$1,000,000!

See page
www.intouchweekly.com

NEW $1.99

bodynews

Then
OCTOBER
2002

Did she get work done?

Her face is looking surprisingly youthful, prompting rumors that she had work done in August while in the hospital after a horse-riding accident. Plastic surgeon Dr. Boris Ackerman of Newport Beach, Calif., (who hasn't treated her) thinks Madonna might have had a face-lift "where her cheeks are lifted, because her jaw line looks more defined," and rejuvenating eye surgery to reduce hollows. Madonna's rep denies it.

Now
OCTOBER
2005

Madonna's new look

Her latest "reinvention" has everyone talking

Madonna is back in the spotlight, embracing her old pop-queen image. "Life's a paradox, isn't it?" says Madonna, who has suddenly ditched the tweeds and is now dressing like a party girl to promote her new documentary and CD, Confessions on a Dance Floor. In New York, she popped in on TRL, looking suspiciously ageless and surprisingly unstylish. Fans are wishing Madonna, 47, would realize she's the trendsetter — she doesn't need to repeat or follow the trends.

What happened to her style?

She's inspired many fads — from leggings to fingerless lace gloves. But Madonna's recent missteps — from her Farrah flip, to her headband, to her head-to-toe purple ensemble — have fans wondering if she's lost her touch.

CLOCKWISE FROM TOP LEFT: ARIK GILBOA/WIREIMAGE; MARCEL THOMAS IMAGES; ARNALDO MAGNANI/GETTY IMAGES; NICOLAS KHAVAT/ABACA; EVAN AGOSTINI/GETTY IMAGES

NOVEMBER 7, 2005

*NO PURCHASE NE
of the 50 United Sta
and where prohibite
inside page 34 for a
www.intouchweekly.